Headteacher's Message

It was amazing to see so many of you attend our World Book Day celebration last week. As with previous years, there were over 100 parents and carers in attendance to the event, highlighting the importance of reading and being able to enjoy books with the family.

This week, we look forward to our Mothers Day reading event, where mums and other significant females are invited to share a story with their child. If you can not attend any event, we always ensure all children share the same experience and therefore share books with our staff.

As you are aware, reading remains a priority at Woolston. Our aim is for all pupils to leave us being able to read. Supporting your child by reading with them at home, and recording in their diary, will help us all achieve this aim.
