Yesterday we held our Remembrance Assembly. This year we watched a video clip on how the ceramic poppies were made and shared in a minute silence in remembrance. The children were very respectful and had a good understanding of why we were sharing in this special time.

Our assemblies over the next few weeks will focus on safety, including road safety, fire safety and stranger danger.

An area that concerns me is internet safety. We have increasing numbers of children talking about playing computer games or watching DVDs which are unsuitable for their age. As a result we will be working with the children and sending home some information for parents on this subject.
